Recognizing Eileen Dannemann, director of the National Coalition of Organized Women (NCOW) as a “strategic intuitive”, herein we offer a plausible explanation that may reconcile the disparity between Dr. Ford’s and Judge Kavanaugh’s stories.

We believe that Ford did have an experience exactly as she recounted - but not so fast! Dr. Ford never shared the event with anyone for over 30 years. This placed her in a unique position. As an active Democrat; as a liberal university professor with hoards of Google students; as a heretofore-undisclosed “Me Too” victim, Professor Ford realized that she could justifiably alter the protagonists in her story to save the world from what she believes to be a horrible right-wing SCOTUS nomination. After all, she happened to know of Kavanaugh from her high school days. Dr. Ford had the unique opportunity to effortlessly “transpose and substitute” the two victimizers in her adolescent real-life event. It would be a lie, an alteration to an adolescent event, that could save the melting snowflake nation from a Trump appointed, anti-abortion, Christian, Supreme Court Judge. After all, who would know the difference, but her! How was she so compelling? It is simply because Dr. Ford genuinely had had an authentic and personal experience. This enabled her to give details of such an event so convincingly. That is how the disparity can be resolved!

Ford's testimony was rife with many unanswered questions such as who drove her home from the party - a distance of 8 miles, deftly pointed out by Attorney Rachel Mitchell. However, this interrogatory has generally gone unacknowledged as to its importance. Ms. Mitchell should be applauded for her kid glove treatment of Dr. Ford, which forever will obviate the Republicans from being recorded in American history as orchestrating an abusive assault on a Me Too victim. Attorney Mitchell is also the one who brought to light the fact that all Dr. Ford's high priced Democratic operative attorneys are pro bono and more so, that through strategies such as funding sites Dr. Ford has raised for herself over $\frac{3}{4}$ million dollars as of this writing.

If it were, in fact, her best friend Leland Keyser that drove her to and fro how did Dr. Ford, in her frazzled state, frantically running down the stairs from her hiding place in the bathroom, succor Ms. Keyser's help into suddenly leaving the party? Did she just drag her out the door? If Ms. Keyser's did give her a ride 8 miles to home would she not have noticed the awful, disheveled fearful state that Ford was in? You would think whoever drove her home would have that memory forever indelibly embedded in their mind. Since Ford, a known country club party girl was not raped but solely had a frightful experience at the hands of what actually amounts to two drunken, laughing, immature, high school party frat boys you would think that in the long ride home, she would tell her BF about the traumatic encounter.

If that event was all there is to it- an understandably very stupid and regrettable antics by the two seventeen-year-old country club yuppies jumping upon an equally stupid 15-year-old well endowed and known party girl, then folks, we have much better stories to tell you than that! We have so many better stories that we wonder how Dr. Ford is so traumatized after 3 decades so as to be compelled to have two doors to her home. Now as she says "...her Google students" have a private entrance. (Perhaps that is the real reason she has two entrances to her house...one for her office.)

We also wonder how the Me Too movement cries foul, aided and abetted by their intimidated, sad and sexually deprived male champions. They so easily exonerate, from sexual complicity, the young 14-15 year old girls who, demonstrably at their first peak of hot maturity, like grapes ready to be harvested, strut down the public streets in denim shorts exposing the cheeks of their butts. Was the young Ms. Ford wearing a one-piece or a two-piece bikini bathing suit in 1982 under her summer shorts? We point out that 1982 is well past the conservative 1940s and the liberating loving 60s in case you are picturing grandma's one-piece bathing suit.

Today's feminists, like Senator Hirono are offensive. Attaché in hand, they are truly holding the bag while their children live lonely in day school orphanages eating cellophane-wrapped sandwiches and chocolate milk, common core sheeple educated, disabled from birth by a host of government mandated vaccinations resulting in an epoch of depression, panic attacks, apparent mental illness, and numbing prescription psyche drugs. They wonder why they are working so hard and resenting men so much. They wonder why they are not loved like the woman whose full-time job, in days gone by, was to love their man, feed them and make them sexually happy supporting them as they joyfully plow the economic fields. Sure we had to balance the days of wartime when men thought it was okay to slap a gal on her ass or slide his hand up the front of her blouse. At least then we knew who was gay or not! Due to this extreme gender shift, hormonal disrupting food, and psycho-social liberalism, we have a lot of frightened men and awfully dominant woman who fail to realize they are enraged because they have become imbalanced and therefore unworthy of reception.

Fearing the "Me Too" rage, the hearing lacked any scintilla of an investigation into Ford's background, family and associations.

There are many rumors within the National Coalition of Organized Women's orbit that may or may not be fake news. In the absence of the "Me Too" intimidations and feminist hysteria, it is within the FBI's purview, to unleash a vigorous investigation of Dr. Ford.

Here are a few "rumors" in NCOW's orbit that the FBI rank and file can investigate as long as they are not being influenced by a corrupt top-down anti-Trump cadre -the likes of Brennan, Clapper, Comey, Stryok, Page, McCabe, and Rosenstein.

Kavanaugh accuser Christine Blasey Ford has been paid to write articles for a pharmaceutical company abortion pill maker... an effort to derail Kavanaugh to protect abortion industry profits:

The Safeway supermarket: Ford allegedly said had two doors of which her mother went through one and she through the other door to encounter Mark Judge. We have heard, perhaps a rumor, that Safeway had only one door in 1982.
